HAROLD KATZ

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS TEAM OWNER

One of the most identifiable faces in all of Philadelphia sport is Sixers owner Harold Katz. He purchased the team from Fitz Eugene Dixon Jr. on July 15, 1981, and quickly became instrumental in the growth of basketball world-wide.

Born and raised in Philadelphia, Harold Katz hung up his sneakers after high school to run the family's grocery store following the death of his father, David. Even though he was no longer able to play basketball, his heart longed for the competitiveness and the spirit of the game. After three years in the grocery business, Katz decided to branch out to enter other business endeavors. In 1972 he invested $20,000 in a weight loss program known as Nutri/System. He opened his first center in Willow Grove, a suburb of Philadelphia, and opened a second shortly afterward. After these centers showed impressive profits, Katz decided to move into franchising.

In 1977, he increased the company's sales even more when he had a succession of healthy, pre-packaged, pre-measured diet foods, sold exclusively to Nutri/System customers. He sold his interest in the diet firm in 1986 when it was the largest medically supervised weight loss company in the world, with over 700 company-owned and franchised centers nationwide.

His first interest, however, remained in basketball and his life-long pursuit of the sport continued to grow. He remained a loyal season ticket holder for many seasons with the 76ers, hoping one day to own Philadelphia's professional team. As his business life continued to prosper, his dream became a reality when the sale became final in July of '81. From that day, Katz worked relentlessly at obtaining something that had eluded the Sixers since 1967, an NBA championship. With his sharp business mind and basketball knowledge, Katz brought the NBA crown back to the city in 1983.

Besides being the sole owner of the 76ers, Katz is actively involved in numerous charitable and philanthropic affairs. He has assumed roles of leadership in B'nai B'rith, the March of Dimes, Jewish Y's, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Police Athletic League, the Hero Scholarship Fund of Philadelphia, and the American Liver Foundation, Delaware Valley Chapter. He has also headed fund-raising drives for organizations such as the National Kidney Foundation and The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Under his leadership, the Sixers charity organization, the Sixers Score Foundation, also assists over 100 charities each year. The Sixers "Stay In School" program is also fast becoming one of the widest reaching charities in the Delaware Valley, as well.

Among the numerous awards that have been bestowed upon him over the years include the B'nai B'rith Sportsman of the Year, the Justice Louis Bradeis Distinguished Service Award, Golden Slipper Club ("Those Fabulous Philadelphians-honoring Harold Katz as the owner of the Sixers for making Philadelphia a great city"), the Pop Warner Little Scholars Award, the Maimonides Award (presented by the American Committee for Shaare Zedek Hospital in Jerusalem) and the Horatio Alger Award, presented by the Golden Slipper Club. He also received the B'nai Brith International Distinguished Achievement Award in June of 1990.

An avid golfer, Katz resides in Huntingdon Valley, Pa. with his wife Peggy and their children. He also spends some of the winter months at his home in Florida.

MEMO TO THE MEDIA

Welcome to the 1995-96 Philadelphia 76ers season . . . our 34th in the "City of Brotherly Love" . . . here are a few guidelines for media coverage here at The CoreStates Spectrum.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS: Single game credentials must be requested no later than 24 hours prior to game day. First time requests must be in written form on company letterhead and received by the same deadline via mail or fax at (215) 339-7632. Credentials will be left at the press "will call" window at The CoreStates Spectrum and can be picked up at 5:30 p.m. on game nights. The media room and press row at courtside are limited to working media members only with a valid 76ers credential. We cannot accommodate family, friends or guests. Any abuse of press credentials will cause forfeiture.

PRESS PARKING: Parking passes are issued prior to the season. All season parking is available on the south side of the arena, but the press lot has not been determined by publication time. A limited number of spots are available on a game-by-game basis, contact public relations office 48 hours in advance if you need single-game parking.

WHERE DO YOU SIT: Visiting beat writers will sit courtside adjacent to the visiting bench, while Sixers beat writers will sit adjacent to the Sixers bench. Visiting television and radio will be seated to the right of center court in the CoreStates Spectrum press box, while home TV and radio sit to the left of center court in the press box. Courtside sitting for non-beat writers is very limited, but we will do our best to accomodate on a game-by-game basis.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photo work space is extremely limited and your cooperation is appreciated. Still and television photographers are limited to the area in front of the press tables at both ends of the court. There are also photo areas reserved in the upper press box and throughout the building. Contact the public relations office for more information regarding these areas. In accordance with the NBA, no hard-back chairs are permitted courtside.

LOCKER ROOM: In accordance with the NBA policy, the 76ers locker room will be open to the media up to 45 minutes prior to tip-off, and 10 minutes after the game has been completed. Only credentialed media are allowed in the locker room and no autographs are permitted.

NOTES AND STATS: Game notes for both teams will be available in the press room two hours prior to tip-off. For visiting media, game notes, credentials, programs and recent clips will be delivered to the hotel as early as possible upon arrival in Philly. Play-by-play, quarterly boxes, final notes and quotes will be available for all media members.

PRACTICES: Sixers practices are held at St. Joseph's University, located off Route 1 (City Ave.) in Philadelphia. All practice sessions are open to the media. The Sixers will shoot on game day at 11 a.m. at the CoreStates Spectrum. Contact the P.R. office for practice times and directions prior to coming out, just to make sure.

PHONES: The Sixers have a limited number of telephones available to working press members on press row. They are available on a first come, first serve basis but we will do our best to accommodate everyone.

QUESTIONS? Please give us a call if there is anything we can do for you.

JOHN LUCAS

HEAD COACH, GENERAL MANAGER AND VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Fourty-two year old North Carolina native John Lucas became the 15th head coach in Sixers history on June 14, 1994, replacing Fred Carter. Although his first season in Philly was not impressive in terms of wins and losses, it set the tone for returning the Sixers back toward the top of the NBA. Among the highlights of the first season in the Lucas era were the emergence of guard Dana Barros as an All-Star, the development of second-year center Shawn Bradley as both a defensive and offensive force, and a highly competitive young team that lost a league high 26 games by six or less while holding opponents to just 100.3 ppg, the lowest point total allowed by a Syracuse/Philly team since the Nats allowed 96.9 ppg in 1955-56.

Lucas came to Philly after a season and a half as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs, compiling a 94-49 record in San Antonio. He became only the second head coach/general manager in Sixers franchise history, joining Jack Ramsay, who assumed the dual role from 1968-70. The dual role may come as surprising in an era where sports management has become very segmented. However, it is not strange to a person who is used to taking on more than his share of challenges.

Lucas' appointment as head coach of the Spurs on December 18, 1992 sent shockwaves through the NBA. At that point his coaching resume' consisted of a single season as head coach of the Miami Tropics of the USBL. He silenced virtually all his critics by leading the Spurs to a 49-33 mark, including a streak of 18 wins in 19 games and a franchise record 10 game winning streak. He followed up his first season of success with a 55-27 record in season number two.

That type of success, both on and off the athletic field, is nothing new to Lucas. He made his first mark as a prep athlete in his hometown of Durham, North Carolina, starring on both the tennis and basketball courts. In tennis he won three consecutive state singles titles and was a member of the Junior Davis Cup team. As a basketball player, he was a four year letterman and broke fellow legend Pete Maravich's North Carolina state scoring record.

He then moved on to the University of Maryland, earning All-America honors in both 1975 and 1976 for Lefty Driesell's Terrapins, and finishing his career as UM's all-time leader in points (2,015) and assists (514). His basketball efforts were again matched by his work on the tennis court, where he earned All-America status both his junior and senior years.

The Houston Rockets made Lucas the top pick in the 1976 NBA Draft and he did not disappoint, averaging 11.1 ppg and 5.6 apg, while earning a spot on the NBA All-Rookie team. He then spent the next 13 seasons with six NBA teams, including three separate stints with Houston. Lucas retired in 1990, averaging 10.7 ppg and 7.0 apg in 928 career games, and etched his name in the NBA recordbook on April 15, 1984, handing out 14 assists in the second period of a game for the Spurs against the Denver Nuggets at HemisFair Arena. He finished among the top 10 in the NBA in assists seven times in his career, and also spent two seasons on the World Team Tennis circuit, playing for the GoldenGaters and the New Orleans Nets from 1976-79.

Following his retirement from basketball, Lucas entered the business world, founding the Houston-based John Lucas Enterprises. The company runs a number of drug-treatment programs and other endeavors that help athletes, and others, maintain their sobriety and work to improve their quality of life. These programs include the John Lucas Residential Treatment Center, John Lucas Athlete's Aftercare Program and S.T.A.N.D. (Students Taking Action Not Drugs). In addition, he is the program consultant to the Sam Houston Memorial Hospital's John Lucas/HELP Unit. He also owned the Miami Tropics of the USBL and used the club to give recovering addicts the chance to resume their professional careers. Lucas led the team in back-to-back USBL championships in 1992 and 1993.

Lucas holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Maryland and a master's in secondary education from the University of San Francisco. He has also been bestowed with numerous honors for his work, including the USBL's Man of the Year Award in 1992, the 1986 National Black Leadership Roundtable Award and this past summer was named one of the 30 most influential black men in the country by Black Enterprise Magazine. In addition, the John Lucas Award is presented every year by The Corporation Against Drug Abuse in Washington, D.C., to an individual who excels in work with treatment and recovery. The recipient's of the award have included former First Lady Betty Ford and former presidential nominee George McGovern. Lucas was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame this past May.

John and his wife Debbie have three children, a daughter, Tarvia, and two sons, John Jr. and Jai and reside in suburban Philadelphia.

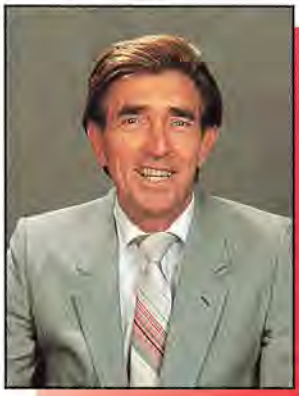
GENE SHUE — Director of Player Personnel



One of the most accomplished careers both on and off the professional basketball court belongs to Sixers director of player personnel Gene Shue. Shue is entering his fourth season in his current position with Philly, after also handling roles as general manager, head coach and player on the professional level.

Gene's current duties include evaluating rookie/free agent and collegiate talent, helping prepare for the Draft, scheduling and coordinating the teams preseason schedule and annual rookie/free agent and veteran's camp. He assumed the role on May 27, 1992, following a two year stint as the Sixers general manager, which he had accepted on July 24, 1990.

In addition to his front office work, the 63 year old Baltimore, Maryland native brings a wealth of coaching knowledge with him. He logged 23 seasons as an NBA head coach, posting a 784-861 record (eighth-most on the all-time list) and twice earning NBA "Coach of the Year" honors ('69 and '82). He is joined by Bill Fitch, Don Nelson and Cotton Fitzsimons as the only two-time winners of the prestigious award.

Shue began his pro coaching career with the then-Baltimore Bullets in 1966-67, transforming a team with the worst record in the league (20-61) to the best record (57-25) in only two seasons. Just two seasons after that (1971), the once-hapless Bullets reached the NBA Finals before losing to the Milwaukee Bucks. During his six seasons in Baltimore, the Bullets brought home four Eastern Division titles and made five playoff appearances.

He left following the 1972-73 season to meet another challenge, trying to turn around the floundering Philadelphia 76ers. Just the previous season, the Sixers had set the still-standing NBA record for futility, posting a 9-73 record under Roy Rubin and interim coach Kevin Loughery. Although not as dramatic as in Baltimore, the turnaround in Philly was just as effective. The team improved its record in each of Shue's first four seasons, eventually reaching the 50 win plateau (50-32) in '76-77, along with a berth in the NBA Finals, where they lost to the Portland Trail Blazers in six games. He was replaced as Sixers coach after six games of the '77-78 season by Billy Cunningham, finishing with a 157-177 record during his tenure.

From Philly, Shue moved west and was named coach of the San Diego (now Los Angeles) Clippers in 1978. Once again he was able to spark a turnaround, taking a franchise which was just 27-55 as the Buffalo Braves the season before, and posting a 43-39 record the next season. He remained with the Clippers through the '79-80 season, returning back east to again coach the Washington Bullets. In his second season back east, he led the team to a 43-39 mark, again earning "Coach Of The Year" honors. He left Washington following the '85-86 season with a 232-248 record and returned to the west coast, again taking over the Clippers reigns, where he ended his coaching career after 38 games of the '88-89 season.

Shue first joined the pro ranks as a player, the third pick of the first round of the 1954 Draft out of the University of Maryland by the Philadelphia (now Golden State) Warriors. He spent 10 seasons as a player in the NBA with the Warriors, Knicks, Pistons and Bullets before retiring in 1964. Shue was a five-time NBA All-Star ('58-62), was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1960 and the Second Team in '61, averaging 14.4 ppg in 699 regular season games.

An avid golfer and tennis player who is in great physical shape, Gene and his wife Sandy split time between Cinnaminson, New Jersey and Marina del Rey, California.

TOM CHESTNUT — Executive Vice President

The newest member of the Sixers administrative staff is Tom Chestnut. The 47-year old Schenectady, New York native was named to the newly-created position of Executive Vice President on June 21. Chestnut comes to the Sixers after serving as President and Chief Operating Officer of the CAVS/Gund Arena Company Business Division, which oversees the day-to-day business operations of the Cleveland Cavaliers and Gund Arena. He was named to that position in the summer of 1994, after serving as the President and Chief Operating Officer of the CAVS/Coliseum Management Company and a member of its board of directors since August of 1990.

Chestnut was one of the key members of the Cleveland staff which helped transform Gund Arena into one of the nation's premier entertainment facilities. He helped design and develop the new arena, making it one of the most fun and fan-friendly buildings in the country.

Since joining the Cavs organization in 1990, Chestnut increased the team's commitment to providing fans with the best possible entertainment experience, both on and off the court. He helped implement exciting ticket plans, in-game promotions and community relations projects to make sure that every fan came away from a Cavs game feeling they have gotten their money's worth, regardless of outcome. He focused the Cavs organization on developing innovative programs to provide existing sponsors with greater service while at the same time forging into the business community to identify, cultivate and eventually secure new sponsors with a wide range of programs. With these plans in place, Gund Arena achieved unparalleled success in its first year of operation.

It is that ideal which Chestnut will seek to incorporate into the fabric of the Sixers, both in their final season in the CoreStates Spectrum and then in their first season in the new CoreStates Center, which is scheduled to open in August of next year.

Prior to joining C.C.M.C., Chestnut spent seven years in the cable television industry with SportsChannel, where he served as senior vice president of strategy and development, and helped establish regional sports networks throughout the country. Chestnut previously served as vice president and general manager of SportsChannel New York, the flagship of SportsChannel's ten regional sports networks.

Earlier in his career, Chestnut worked in a succession of marketing positions at Procter & Gamble, American Can, and James River Corporation. Before joining the more traditional world of work, he played four years of professional basketball with teams in the Netherlands, France and Italy.

Chestnut received a B.A. in English from Princeton University, where he played on two Ivy League champion basketball teams. His interests are travel, antique collecting (especially Art Deco), tennis and photography. He and his wife Laura have two daughters, Whitney (9) and Taylor (7) and reside in the Philadelphia area.

RON ADAMS — Assistant Coach

California native Ron Adams is in his second season in Philadelphia after working with John Lucas the previous two seasons in San Antonio. The dean of the Sixers coaching staff, Adams has coached on every level, including extensive work on the collegiate and international level.

Adams began his work on the NBA level in 1992, when he joined then-head coach Jerry Tarkanian with the Spurs. He stayed on as a member of the staff when John Lucas took the reins in early December, and came to Philly when Lucas accepted his position in early June of '94.

Prior to joining the Spurs, Adams spent 12 seasons as both a head and assistant coach on the Division I level, including four as head coach at Fresno State University. He also served as an assistant under Boyd Grant at Fresno for five seasons, including their 1982 National Invitation Championship season. Four times during his tenure at Fresno, the Bulldogs led the nation in defense, including the '81-82 campaign, when Fresno finished with a number 11 ranking while giving up just 47.1 points per game, the lowest mark in the NCAA since 1952.

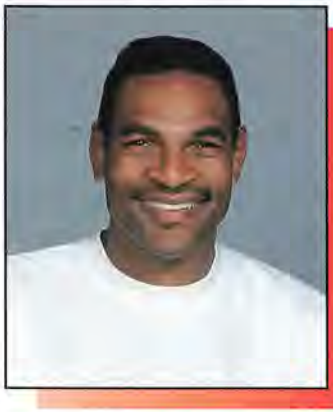
Following his work at Fresno, Adams moved on to UNLV, helping Jerry Tarkanian's Rebels to a 34-1 record in 1990-91 and a trip to the NCAA Final Four. He also spent the 1991-92 season as an assistant coach at Drake University before rejoining Tarkanian with the Spurs. Ron has also logged time as head coach at his alma mater, Fresno Pacific College, and spent time as an assistant with UC-Santa Barbara and U.S. International University.

Adams also has an impressive resume on the international level. He has served as both coach and consultant to the Canadian Olympic Team, the Belgian National Program and the Kumgi Gumi, the Champions of the Japan League. In 1978-79 he was the head coach of the Sunair Basketball Club and led the team to the Cup of Belgium Championship.

Adams and his wife, Leah Ogden, have two children, Jerid and Hayley, and reside in Wayne, Pa.

ASSISTANT COACHES

MAURICE CHEEKS — Assistant Coach



Former Sixers guard Maurice Cheeks returned to Philly as assistant coach last season. The 39 year old Chicago native began his coaching career as an assistant coach with the Continental Basketball Association champion Quad City Thunder in '93-94, and was brought on board by John Lucas last season.

Known as one of the best defensive guards in the history of the game, Maurice will again work extensively with the Sixers young guards, as well as handling a variety of other coaching responsibilities. Under his tuteledge last season, Dana Barros emerged as one of the top guards in the NBA, earning All-Star honors as well as the league's "Most Improved Player" Award.

Cheeks spent 14 seasons in the NBA (1978-93), before retiring following the 1992-93 season, including 11 seasons in Philadelphia. He also spent time with San Antonio, New York, Atlanta and New Jersey. Maurice finished his career first on the all-time NBA steals list (2,310), fifth in assists (7,392) and 10th in games played (1,101). He was also a four-time NBA All-Defensive first team selection and was once selected to the All-Defensive second team. The Sixers further honored Cheeks last season by retiring his number 10 on February 6.

Maurice is single and resides in Philadelphia.

TOM THIBODEAU — Assistant Coach

Tom Thibodeau also came to Philly with John Lucas, after spending the previous two seasons with Lucas in San Antonio. He brings to the Sixers a valuable blend of experience as an NBA assistant, advance scout and head coach at the collegiate level.

Thibodeau returned to the east coast after spending the previous five seasons further west, from 1989 to 1991 as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves under Bill Musselman, the '91-92 season as the advance scout for the Seattle SuperSonics, and the past two seasons with the Spurs. His duties will again include practice planning, individual drills, advance scouting, game plans and Draft preparation.

The 37 year old has complied quite a list of highlights along his coaching stops thus far. In his first NBA season, he helped lead the expansion Timberwolves to the most wins of any of the four expansion teams (22), while finishing second in the NBA in defense (99.6 ppg allowed) and fewest turnovers (14.6). His second season in Minnesota saw continued improvement, as the Wolves led the league in fewest turnovers per game (an NBA record 12.96), posted a winning record at home in only their second season in existence, and finished in the top five in the NBA in three other categories. He spent the next season working with the Sonics as their advance scout, before rejoining the coaching ranks with the Spurs in '92-93.

Originally hired by Jerry Tarkanian in San Antonio, Thibodeau remained with the club when John Lucas took over in early December and assisted in one of the quickest turnarounds for a club in league history. San Antonio finished in the Top 10 in six categories in '92-93, and advanced to the Western Conference semi-finals. In his second season, the Spurs led the league in rebound pct. and were in the Top 10 in five other categories, on the way to a 55-27 mark. He then helped lead a young Philly squad last season to their best defensive season since 1955-56, allowing just 95.4 ppg.

The New Britain, Connecticut native has also logged quality time on the intercollegiate level, serving as an assistant coach at Harvard University from 1985-'89 and as an assistant and then head coach at his alma mater, Salem State College, from 1981-'85. He helped lead the Vikings to three NCAA Tournament appearances, and was selected as the team's Most Outstanding Player in 1981.

Thibodeau holds a master's degree in counseling and a bachelor's of science degree from Salem State. He is single and resides in Philadelphia.

ASSISTANT COACHES

WORLD B. FREE

Staff Assistant

Former NBA great, World B. Free begins his second season as part of the Sixers front office staff. After 13 seasons in the league, including four with the 76ers, Free now holds the position of staff assistant.

Free, 41, averaged 20.3 points per game in 886 career games, with a career high 30.2 ppg average in 1979-80, as a member of the San Diego Clippers. He earned NBA All-Star honors as a member of the Clippers in 1980 and had his best season as a Sixer in 1976-77 when he averaged 16.3 ppg in 78 games.

In his position with the organization, the Guilford (N.C.) College graduate assists strength and conditioning coach Joe Carbone as he works with players on an individual basis, specializing in shooting and flexibility. Free also joins director of community relations Steve Mix, handling numerous public and speaking appearances for the team. During the offseason he can be found at recreation centers throughout the Philadelphia area as well as at day and overnight camps, spreading his basketball knowledge and motivational messages.

In addition to the 76ers, he is employed by the Coca Cola Bottling Company of Philadelphia, and works as a youth market manager. Free is single and resides in Atco, NJ.

TONY DILEO

Director of Scouting

Tony DiLeo is entering his sixth season with the Sixers, his second as the team's director of scouting. The Philly native has also served as an assistant coach and director of player personnel under Doug Moe, Jim Lynam and Fred Carter.

The 40 year old's duties will include coordinating all aspects of scouting, including reporting on upcoming opponents, keeping abreast of collegiate and CBA players and watching the progress of players currently playing in Europe.

DiLeo brings an extensive background in international coaching to the position. He spent from 1979 through 1989 as a player and scout in West Germany, winning nine national titles in the country's top Division in his 10 seasons. He was selected as the West German Basketball Federation's National Coach from 1981-85 and was the country's "Coach of the Year" in 1987. DiLeo also worked as a European scout for Marty Blake, the NBA's director of scouting services, during his time abroad.

Away from the court, DiLeo spends time as an author and publisher. In 1984 he wrote and published the European Basketball Handbook, a guide designed to accomodate American players overseas. He also wrote a detailed manual in 1989 on rule differences between the Federation International Basketball Association (FIBA), the NBA and the NCAA.

Tony played basketball at Cinnaminson High in New Jersey, Tennessee Tech and LaSalle University. As a senior with the Explorers in 1977. he was a first team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American while playing for Paul Westhead, graduating first in his class with a degree in accounting from LaSalle's School of Business.

DiLeo and his wife Anna and their two sons reside in Cinnaminson, N.J.

JOE CARBONE — Strength and Conditioning Coach

Joe Carbone was appointed to the newly-created position of strength and conditioning coach on March 21, 1995. His responsibilities are to work year-round with each player, to help increase their off-court abilities, utilizing individual weight lifting programs. Carbone is working for the team as an employee of HealthSouth, an Alabama-based rehabilitation center.

Prior to accepting this position, the Rockland County, NY native was a full-time exercise physiologist and certified strength and conditioning specialist. He also held the position as a trainer at the Sports and Physical Therapy Center in Monsey, NY. A 1986 graduate of Gettysburg College with a B.A. in Health and Physical Education, Carbone received an M.S. degree in Health Science and Exercise Physiology from Long Island University.

He is a former nationally-ranked powerlifter and current nationally-ranked weightlifter. A bronze medalist at the 1993 U.S. Olympic Festival, Carbone was also a three-time New York State Powerlifting Champion and placed fourth in the 1993 National Weightlifting Championships. He is currently continuing his training for the 1996 U.S. Olympic Weightlifting team.

Carbone, 30, is single and resides in Philadelphia.

KEVIN CARROLL — Head Athletic Trainer

Kevin Carroll joined the 76ers organization on June 15, 1995, after spending three years at St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia as their head athletic trainer. The 36 year old NBA rookie trainer also served as the University's strength and conditioning coordinator for the past two years. Additionally, he spent the past three seasons assisting former Sixers trainer, Mike Abdenour, as an adjunct athletic trainer.

Prior to his three years with the Hawks, Carroll held the position of athletic trainer and physical education instructor at Episcopal Academy and The Haverford School in Philadelphia. He also spent time as the assistant athletic trainer at Angelo (Texas) State University and as a summer camp intern with both the Philadelphia Eagles and the Houston Oilers.

Carroll is putting his speech communications degree to use as a guest speaker at numerous camps throughout the Delaware Valley, in addition to his recent work with NIKE's "Believe to Achieve" program. An Angelo State University graduate, he is currently pursuing a masters in Health Education at St. Joseph's. Carroll also spent 10 years in the United States Air Force (1980-1990) and reached the rank of Staff Sergeant. He specialized as a language interpreter and translator with emphasis in Czechoslovakian, Yugoslavian and German.

A fitness buff, Carroll enjoys spending time with his two boys Kevin (16) and Keith (11) in their Narberth, Pa. home. In his spare time, he relaxes by reading and listening to his extensive CD collection.

CoreStates Center

In less than one year, the Philadelphia 76ers will be packing up and moving 100 yards to their new home court, the CoreStates Center. This massive 21,000 seat arena is scheduled to open for the 1996-97 NBA season. Because of it's unique oval design, there will be no obstructed views, therefore not a bad seat in the house will be found.

The Center has over 3,000 more seats and over 300,000 more square feet than the existing CoreStates Spectrum. The new arena will include an extensive premium seating area. Two superbox sections will accommodate approximately 84 fans each and 10 club boxes will be able to hold 90 to 150 patrons. In addition, 26 balcony suites will be in place with room for 12 people and there will be 100 luxury suites with 12 to 14 seats.

With the increased fan capacity, there will be 30 concessions on two concourses with over twice as many restroom facilities than the present Sixers arena. In addition, high-clarity video screens and scoreboards will be in place, along with a sports bar/restaurant and a view of the Philadelphia skyline. Parking around the arena will be increased substantially.

A few fun facts . . . The construction of the CoreStates Center required: 7,000 tons of steel; 19,000 cubic yards of concrete; 32,500 square feet of glass; 62,000 lineal feet of driven piles and 400,000 square feet of dry wall. Judging from the extensive amount of materials used, the CoreStates Center will be a state-of-the-art home for the Philadelphia 76ers and the Philadelphia Flyers.

THE SIXERS SCORE FOUNDATION/NBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

OUR MISSION STATEMENT

"The Sixers Score Foundation recognizes and acts on the needs of the people of the greater Philadelphia area. The Foundation attempts to make a difference in all areas of the community through charitable endeavors implementing a broad-based community relations program. It seeks to promote self-esteem and leadership in the young as well as aid the less fortunate. By establishing long-term projects, we hope to keep the 76ers visible in the community as a positive force in the lives of Philadelphians."

Mayor Ed Rendell, Sixer Tim Perry and Dept. of Recreation Commissioner Michael DiBerardinis at the Sayre/Morris Playground as part of the "Sixers Summer in the City" program.

The National Basketball Association, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting programs dedicated to improving the quality of life for all people.

For years, the NBA has created and implemented programs league-wide to address important social issues, with special emphasis on helping young people. This year's youth-based education programs will include: the NBA Stay in School program, created to encourage students to graduate from high school through school visits by NBA players and coaches; and conflict resolution workshops designed to train teachers and educate students in methods to resolve conflict without resorting to violence. Public service announcements and educational materials will also focus on anti-violence/conflict resolution message.

The NBA continues its support of CARE, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse and Special Olympics through television and radio public service announcements and other awareness-building efforts. The NBA also creates PSAs in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Black History Month each year.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams are making a difference, across the United States and Canada, through active involvement in a multitude of outreach efforts pertinent to the needs of their respective communities.

SIXERS CHARITABLE ENDEAVORS

In addition to the NBA's work, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Katz, coach John Lucas, his staff and the Sixers players recognize the need to go that much further for those less fortunate in the Delaware Valley. The team is able to reach out to over 100 charities and thousands of children each year. Here is a brief look at some key projects:

MAJOR FUNCTIONS

- Celebrity Golf Outing (Fall) and Winners Ball (Spring)

The Sixers two headline fundraising events are the annual Celebrity Golf Outing in the early fall and the bi-annual Winners Ball, black-tie gala, in the late spring. Both events benefit The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

■ "Stay in School" program

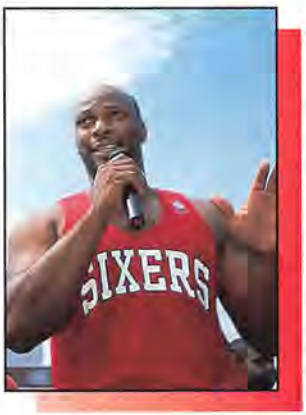
The 76ers Community Relations Department, headed by director of community relations and former Sixer Steve Mix, will begin its fourth year of a "Stay in School" program. This program aims to reach middle school-aged students and reward them for good attendance and academic improvement.

The year-long "Stay in School" incentive program distributes "Stay in School" contracts to each of the 40,000 School District of Philadelphia Middle School students, which encourage the children to show academic improvements and solid attendance throughout the school year. At the end of each report period, students who show improvement along with solid attendance are rewarded with prizes from the 76ers, ranging from basketballs to hats to game tickets.

— Mix and staff assistant and former Sixer World B. Free also make over 200 appearances to public and parochial schools, inspiring children with their "Stay In School" and "Say No To Drugs" message.



— The "Stay In School" Jam will be held in early spring to reward students who have performed well academically throughout the school year. The Jam features Sixers players and coaches speaking about the importance of education and staying away from drugs. Event tickets are used as a reward for students showing the greatest academic improvement and an outstanding attendance record. The show is highlighted by celebrities and top musical entertainment (which included Tatyana Ali, Usher and Pete Rock & CL Smooth last season).

■ The Sixers "Rec Centers at Center Court" programs

The Sixers annually work with the City of Philadelphia to keep the many inner city recreation centers safe and in playing shape. This past summer, Nike P.L.A.Y. — Participate in the Lives of America's Youth came on board to help implement this project. Now in its fourth year, the "Rec Centers at Center Court" program renovates old, worn or abandoned basketball backboards.

In addition, the team gives thousands of young athletes a night of free NBA basketball along with giving many groups a chance to actually play on the CoreStates Spectrum floor. The club has also teamed with the Salvation Army and Foot Locker to run Moonlight Basketball Leagues, keeping youngsters involved in sports and off the streets late at night.

■ Christmas Projects

The 76ers use the holiday season to spread cheer to the children of greater Philadelphia. They make an annual holiday time visit to The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, and deliver gifts to those young ones too ill to make it home for the holidays. The team also joins the United States Marines in an annual "Toys for Tots" promotion, with the proceeds and gifts going to underprivileged children.

■ "Sixers Wives Save Lives" campaign

The Sixers Wives have worked in conjunction with the Child Abuse Prevention Committee of Greater Philadelphia. The wives, players and their children were featured in two public service announcements that encouraged good parenting skills. In addition, they participated in an Art Auction that raised money for the Committee, and were active supporters of "Child Awareness Day," sponsored by the Delaware Valley Child Care Council, which stresses the importance of quality child care.

SIXERS ON THE AIR

Once again this season, WIP (610 AM) will be the flagship station for all Sixers basketball games. Check local listings for nights when there are conflicts with Philadelphia Flyers games and for local Sixers radio network affiliates in each area. Tom McGinnis will call all the action on WIP this season. McGinnis is in his rookie NBA season after calling the action for the International Hockey League's Cleveland Lumberjacks last season. Tom has also done extensive work in the CBA and in a host of collegiate arenas.

PRISM/SportsChannel will produce all 82 regular season games on the airwaves this season. The veteran tandem of play-by-play voice Marc Zumoff and color analyst Steve Mix both return, with Tony Irving providing behind-the-scenes and feature reporting. Producer/Director Shawn Oleksiak returns for his second season behind the cameras, but his first as a married man.

6 SIXERS IN HALL OF FAME

Six ex-76ers are in the Basketball Hall of Fame. They are Dolph Schayes, Hal Greer, Wilt Chamberlain, Julius Erving, Billy Cunningham and Chuck Daly. Ex-Phila. Warriors in the shrine are Eddie Gottlieb, Joe Fulks, Paul Arizin, Andy Phillip, Neil Johnston and Tom Gola. Frank McGuire and Harry Litwack also are there but mainly because of their college coaching exploits and Jack Ramsay for both his college and pro coaching.

TICKET PRICES IN THE EARLY YEARS

When player salaries were not as lofty as today and teams did not have arenas with the large seating capacities now prevalent in the NBA, ticket prices for games were accordingly much cheaper than today, just like prices for clothing, food, etc. The first year of the 76ers in 1963-64, ticket prices for the games at Convention Hall were $1.50, $2, $2.75 and $3.50. They stayed the same the next season. In 1965-66, the top price soared to $4 with $3.25, $2.50 and $1.50 the other prices. These were also the prices when the 76ers won the NBA Title in 1966-67. In 1967-68, the first year in the Spectrum, the prices were $6, $5, $4, $3, and $2. They stayed that way through the 1974-75 season. Finally in 1975-76, the first year of George McGinnis, the prices went up a dollar to a $7 tops, and then began the steady rise to today's figures.

VLADE DIVAC TOPS NBA'S 20-20 CLUB

Vlade Divac was the leader of the NBA's 20-20 club in 1994-95 in posting 20 or more points and rebounds in the same game. He did it 3 times, which was one less then he did in 1992-93. Past winners were Shaquille O'Neal 6 in 1993-94 and 7 in 1992-93; Kevin Willis 12 in 1991-92; Hakeem Olajuwon 6 in 1990-91 and 8 in 1989-90; Robert Parish 5 in 1988-89, Olajuwon 6 in 1987-88, Charles Barkley 11 in 1986-87. Behind Divac in 1994-95 were Willis and Barkley 2 each, and O'Neal. David Robinson, Shawn Bradley, Chris Webber, Derrick Coleman, Popeye Jones, Patrick Ewing and Loy Vaught one each. Thus 11 players did it 15 times (15-28 in 1993-94, 13-32 in 1992-93, 17-39 in 1991-92, 16-28 in 1990-91, 14-28 in 1989-90, 16-28 in 1988-89, and 12-31 in 1987-88). Sherman Douglas had 20 points and 20 assists in a game in 1993-94. John Stockton and Kevin Johnson did it once each in 1991-92.

5 INDIANA HOOSIER STARTERS MAKE NBA

As far as anyone can ascertain the NCAA champion Indiana Hoosiers of 1976 are the only team to send all five starters to the NBA. Four of the players were drafted in the 1976 draft and the fifth, junior center Kent Benson, was drafted in 1977 by Milwaukee in the first round. The other picks in 1976 were first round selections Quinn Buckner (Milwaukee), Scott May (Chicago) and Bob Wilkerson (Seattle) plus third choice Tom Abernethy (LA Lakers).

ELLIS AND TRAPP CLAIM UNIQUE DISTINCTION

LeRoy Ellis and John Q. Trapp have the distinction of being members of both the team with the best record in NBA history as well as the worst team in league annals. Both men played on the Los Angeles Lakers 1971-72 team that posted a 69-13 record including 33 straight wins en route to the NBA title. They also played for the 1972-73 76ers squad that compiled a 9-73 mark, the lowest in history.

A HISTORICAL LOOK AT THE PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

The Philadelphia 76ers franchise actually began in 1949, when six teams from the midwest-based National Basketball League joined the Basketball Association of America to form the 17 team National Basketball Association. One of those teams is the Syracuse Nationals, which will eventually become the Philadelphia 76ers. The Nats went 51-13 in their first NBA season under Al Cervi, and won the Eastern Division crown. The team was very successful in Syracuse, reaching the NBA Finals in both 1951 and 1954 both times losing to the Minneapolis Lakers. They finally broke through in 1954, taking their first, and only, NBA title by defeating the Fort Wayne Pistons 92-91 on April 10, 1955, taking the series 4-3. The team posted winning records in 11 of its 14 seasons in Syracuse.

The Nats were purchased by Philadelphians Irv Kosloff and Ike Richman in the spring of 1963, and the NBA approved the franchise shift and name change from the Nationals to the 76ers on May 22, 1963, returning professional basketball to Philly. (The Philadelphia Warriors had left for San Francisco following the 1961-62 season.) Nats star Dolph Schayes was named the Sixers first coach, and the team went 34-46 in its first season, finishing in third place. Guard Hal Greer was the star of that first Sixers team, averaging 23.3 ppg and becoming the first Sixers All-Star.

The first turning point for the franchise occurred on January 15, 1966, when the club acquired star center Wilt Chamberlain from the San Francisco Warriors for a pair of players and cash. Chamberlain continued his NBA dominance, becoming the first Sixer to lead the NBA in scoring and rebounding while leading the team to its first Eastern Division title with a 55-25 record in '66-67.

Former Nats star and coach Alex Hannum succeeded Dolph Schayes as head coach prior to the '66-67 season, and the team picked up right where it left off, winning the Eastern Division title with a 68-13 record. The team then took the NBA title by defeating the San Francisco Warriors 4-2, clinching the series with a 125-122 win in game six on April 24 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

The '67-68 season saw the Sixers move from their old home, the Philadelphia Civic Center, to the new CoreStates Spectrum. They opened the building with a 103-87 win over the Los Angeles Lakers on October 18, 1967. Philly finished that season with a 62-20 record, taking their third straight Eastern Division title, but lost to the Boston Celtics 4-3 in the Eastern Conference Finals. Chamberlain etched his name yet again in the NBA recordbook in '67-68 by recording the NBA's only triple-double-double with 25 rebounds, 21 assists and 22 points in a 131-121 win over Detroit on February 2, 1968. Following the season, Jack Ramsey succeeded Alex Hannum as Sixers head coach, and became the first person in team history to hold the dual role of head coach and general manager. The team just missed its fourth straight division title in '67-68, finishing second with a 55-27 mark, and was dethroned by the Boston Celtics in the opening round of the playoffs.

Age and injuries then took their toll on the franchise. The '71-72 team became the first Sixers team to finish below .500 (30-52), and the 1972-73 squad became one of the more infamous teams in league annals, posting the worst mark in NBA history at 9-73. Gene Shue's appointment as head coach on June 15, 1973 and the selection of Doug Collins with the first pick of the '73 NBA Draft began the Sixers return as an NBA power. They also added a key frontcourt player with the signing of free agent George McGinnis on July 10, 1975. Collins and McGinnis formed the foundation for the Sixers mid-'70's rise, as Collins averaged 17.9 ppg and garnered three All-Star game selections in his injury-shortened eight season career, while McGinnis averaged 21.6 ppg and a pair of All-Star nods in his three Sixers campaigns.

The team steadily improved, highlighted by a 50-32 Atlantic Division title in '76-77 and a playoff run that saw them reach the '77 NBA Finals, where they were turned back by former coach Jack Ramsay and the Portland Trail Blazers in six games.

Philly also made two of its most storied moves in the early stages on the '77-78 season. On October 21, the Sixers purchased Julius Erving's contract from the New York Nets and on November 3, Billy Cunningham replaced Gene Shue as Sixers head coach. The team took their second straight Atlantic Division crown with a 55-27 record, but lost to the Washington Bullets in the Eastern Conference Finals.

However the stage was now set, and their run continued as one of the elite teams in the NBA over the better part of the next decade, winning no less than 52 games in each of the next six seasons, including three appearances in the NBA Finals. Their most memorable season during that era was 1982-83. The team, led by Erving, Moses Malone and All-Star guard Maurice Cheeks, posted a 65-17 regular season record and went on a 12-1 rampage through the NBA playoffs. They capped the championship off with a 4-0 sweep of the Los Angeles Lakers in the Finals. Current Sixers owner Harold Katz purchased the team from Fitz Dixon in July of 1982, and helped guide them to the title in his first ownership season.

Billy Cunningham continued at the helm until June 14, 1985, when he was replaced by Matt Guokas. The team, still led by Malone and Erving and a budding star named Charles Barkley, continued its run as one of the NBA's elite, finishing with a 54-28 mark in '85-86. More recent successes have included the 1990 Atlantic Division title (under Jimmy Lynam), the club's 2,000th franchise victory on December 13, 1994, over the Miami Heat, and the hiring of John Lucas as head coach and general manager on June 14, 1994.

UNCONVENTIONAL TRIPLE DOUBLES

In addition to the conventional assists, rebounds and points triple doubles, there are other positive ones. The most popular is the rebounds, blocked shots and points variety. Hakeem Olajuwon and David Robinson did it 7 times, Mark Eaton 6, Dikembe Mutombo 5, Tree Rollins 3, and Benoit Benjamin, Larry Nance, Manute Bol, Ralph Sampson, Shaquille O'Neal and Artis Gilmore once each in the period between 1979 and 1995. Another novel one was achieved by Fat Lever in 1984-85 when he had 10 or more assists, steals and points. Robinson, Olajuwon and Alvin Robertson also had quadruple doubles in this period.

FEERICK ONLY MAN TO LEAD LEAGUE IN FG% and FT%

Bob Feerick, of the old Washington Caps, did something in 1947-48 that no other player has accomplished, topping the circuit in field goal percentage (34.0) and free throw percentage (78.8) the same season. Neither percentage would rank him very high today.

76ers BANNER YEAR ON THE ROAD

The 76ers of 1976-77 (632,994) were the biggest road attraction in NBA history until 1984-85 when Celtics drew 663,368 (16,180 average). They drew 33 sellouts in 41 outings for a 15,439 average. In Buffalo they drew the largest opening crowd in the Braves' history two days after Julius Erving was signed. They drew the largest crowd of the year in Kansas City and the two largest in New Orleans including a then record-breaking 27,383. They drew sellouts in both their appearance in Atlanta, Washington, Houston, San Antonio, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles, Golden State, Portland, Seattle, New York and Boston and in their lone game in Phoenix. They drew sellouts in one of their two games in both New Orleans and Indiana. Only in Buffalo, Kansas City and the Nets did they fail to have any sellouts. Their smallest road crowd was 8,792 at Buffalo in a rescheduled snowed-out game. Their only other crowd under 10,938 was a 9,633 total in their first game with the Nets. By divisions they sold out all 9 games in the Pacific Division; 11 out of 12 in the Central Division, 9 out of 12 in the Midwest Division and only 4 out of 8 in the Atlantic Division. They also had sellouts in all 9 road playoff games to wind up an unparalleled record in the league's history at that time.

TITLE ROUND FAILURES IN FOLLOWING SEASONS

Five NBA teams failed to make the playoffs the year after they were in the championship finals. The 1968-69 Boston team was the only one to win the title and then fail to make the playoffs the following year. The others were St. Louis 1960-61, failing in 1961-62; San Francisco 1963-64, failing in 1964-65 after selling Wilt Chamberlain to the 76ers, Milwaukee 1973-74, failing in 1974-75; and Phoenix 1975-76, failing in 1976-77.

CLUB NICKNAME

The late Walter Stahlberg, of West Collingswood, New Jersey, won a contest to name the club in 1963. The choice of the club's nickname was announced on August 6, 1963. There were almost 500 different suggestions among the entries and Stahlberg was one of several who picked the 76ers. However, his accompanying 25-word explanation was deemed the best by the judges, and he and his wife received an all-expense trip to the West Coast to see the 76ers play San Francisco.
